GOOD FRIDAY SOLEMNITY
AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH
The Good Friday services at St. Patrick's church were largely attended. The mass for the pre-sanctified, at 8 o'clock was offered by Rev. Philip J. Mooney. The ceremonies consisted of a Prophecy, Osee 6, 1-6, a lesson, Exodus 12, 1-11, the Passion of Our Divine Lord, John 18-19, special prayers and supplications for all orders and conditions of men, the adoration of the cross, and the mass of the pre-sanctified. The vestments were of black and silver, as during a requiem mass, the organ was mute and no hymns were sung.

During this mass there was no consecration, but the celebrant consumed the species consecrated the day before. At the close of the mass, Father Mooney presented the crucifix to be kissed to the many hundreds kneeling at the opportunity, the congregation leaving the church by the side aisles. The offertory of the day was for the preservation of sacred places in the Holy Land. At three o'clock Friday afternoon, a large congregation assembled for the way of the cross, led by Father Galvin. This solemn devotion began in 1243 in Jerusalem, among Christians who dwelt there and who were wont to go over the way made sacred by the sufferings of the Divine Redeemer.

Friday evening there was Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, given by Father Mooney and again the veneration of the Cross by the large congregation of the Cross by the large congregation.
